Come Celebrate Independence Day on July 4!

Please join the Kendal at Oberlin Community in celebrating the birth of our country on Wednesday, July 4, 2012: Parade the Circle, enjoy the program, feast in the Fox & Fell, splurge on an ice cream sundae – all in good fun.

9:50am - Line up for the parade in the hall by the open mailboxes.

10:00am - Parade the Circle in front of Heiser with fife and drum, the liberty bell, the daring Tricycle Troupe and the famous Kendal Precision Lawn Chair Drill Team.

The march starts in the mailbox hallway. (We'll stay indoors if it's raining.)

10:30am - Patriotic Program in the Heiser Auditorium: a reprise of Robert Taylor's inspiring "Creating a 'More Perfect' Union – a Look at America's History through the Words of Those Who Lived It" including readings, music and group singing with George and Jane Hannauer.

11:30am - Festive Meal in the Fox and Fell, Langston and Friends Corner Dining Rooms. (Only a light supper will be available in the evening.)

3:00pm - Ice Cream Social in the new Whittier Game Lounge and Greenleaf Garden with group singing led by the Hannauers.

Come dressed for the occasion and join the parade with your pet or vehicle or on foot. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to participate.

You Are Invited to be Part of Kendal's Master Planning

At the June Afternoon Exchange, residents were encouraged to put several dates on their calendars for Master Planning sessions that will feature input by residents, board, staff, board committees, waiting list members and community representatives.

RLPS (Reese, Lower, Patrick & Scott, Ltd.), an architectural firm from Lancaster, PA, will assist us in creating a new 10-Year Master Plan. Planning and design of senior living organizations has been its life's work. The firm, which has worked with many not-for-profit providers including both Kendal at Granville and Kendal at Lexington, has a long history with many of the Quaker retirement communities that goes back 15 to 20 years or more. It definitely understands the importance of engaging retirement community residents in the process and knows the time this takes.

RLPS will conduct ten focus sessions over two days on August 1 and 2. Sessions will start at 8:30am, lasting 75 minutes, and involve up to 25 people. Sign-up sheets will be posted near the mailboxes on July 11, three weeks ahead of the sessions. We will try to balance the sign-ups so that residents, board members, staff and others are spread as evenly as possible throughout all the sessions.

On September 6 and 7 a greater amount of time will be required of those who participate. This charette

KNOW YOUR KORA COUNCIL

Members of your KORA Council try to stay informed about the work of resident associations in the other Kendal communities. One way we do this is by circulating the newsletters and council minutes from the other Kendals (or reading them through email, when possible). Sometimes we get new ideas to try out. Our “Meet, Greet and Eat” program is one example.

Often we discover that our Oberlin Kendal is “ahead of the pack.” This is particularly true of our Kendal at Oberlin Resident Association website www.kaores.kendal.org. No other Kendal seems to have anything equivalent. On our website you can review menus and look at Channel 19 slides at your leisure; check the local weather forecast; read recent issues of The Kendalight; look at photo stories of recent Kendal events; follow links to the Oberlin College calendar and to many other local organizations and resources as well as to all the other Kendals; and explore all the KORA committees. Make a habit of using our website -- it's a wonderful time-saver. Special thanks to Webmaster Jim Pugsley for keeping this amazing service up to date!

One feature of www.kaores.kendal.org is the photos of our KORA Council, its Executive Committee, and its three other Council Committees -- the Budget Committee, the Coordination Committee and the Suggestions and Concerns Committee -- with descriptions of their responsibilities.

I want to highlight the Suggestions and Concerns Committee because, like our website, it may be an under-utilized resource. According to our Constitution and Bylaws (find them at www.kaores.kendal.org!) this committee “is charged with listening to suggestions, complaints and concerns from residents, and taking appropriate steps to see that they are responded to within a reasonable time.” Members

Our Annual Silent Auction Benefits Kendal Staff Members in 2012

Thanks to your generous participation, this year's Silent Auction raised a total of $2,250.50! This amount will be split equally between the Stephens Education Fund and the Staff Emergency Fund.

The Staff Emergency Fund helps staff members with small grants and short-term loans for personal emergency needs. The circumstances of the emergency remain confidential between the staff member and Human Resources to assure dignity is maintained through a difficult time.

The Stephens Education Fund approved seven tuition requests in 2011 benefiting the following departments: Early Learning Center, Dining Services, and Creative Arts Therapy.

Both funds assure us the opportunity to lend a hand when most needed via an enjoyable community event. Your contributions are warmly appreciated and welcomed any time throughout the year. Thank you!

-Toni Merleno, Director of HR & Operational Services

of Council on the Suggestions and Concerns Committee are Chair Eleanor Devereux, Don Hultquist, Del Jenkins and May Zitani. A resident or group of residents can present a suggestion, complaint or concern at the Sounding Board, the monthly listening session held by the Committee.

To some extent the Coffee Hour which Barbara Thomas initiated has lessened the Committee's work, since this is another venue for residents to express their views. But there are times when more privacy is essential. The Sounding Board provides an opportunity not just for privacy but a venue for discussing a concern with a few residents (on the Sounding Board) and a means for that concern to be put forth by the Sounding Board to the appropriate person on staff without disclosing the name of the resident who raised the issue. Starting this month the “Sounding Board” will meet at a new time -- the second Friday of each month at 11:00am -- to assure that it will not conflict with “Coffee Hour.” Don't hesitate to utilize this means of resolving difficulties and enhancing our life together! -John Elder, KORA President

Big Bus: Mozart Under the Stars at Blossom Music Center with the Cleveland Orchestra Sat., July 21, 6:00-11:30pm

The bus takes us directly to the Music Center tram. After the tram ride, it's only a short walk to our seats in the pavilion (close to the restrooms). And Blossom and the bus can accommodate rollators. After the concert, we'll get priority boarding on the trams back to our bus. Once our bus is loaded, we sail out with no waiting! NOTE: A $22.50 non-refundable check payable to KORA (to pay for your concert ticket) was to be deposited in Box #120 by June 30 to insure your place on the bus. Your name on the sign-up sheet under the bulletin board indicated your interest. Only a check gets you on the bus!

Questions? Call Pat Talbot.

NOTE: The Big Bus will depart promptly at 6:00pm.

Transportation cost (probably around $21-28) will be billed after the trip and, as usual, will depend on the number of riders.

Art Gallery News

The wonderful Kendal Creates show continues to fill all three of our gallery spaces -- Kendal Gallery, Community Gallery and Friends Gallery -- through August 12.

In addition to works in many other media, our 2012 show includes a number of quilts made by Kendal residents, to coincide with FAVA's 15th biennial "Artist as Quiltmaker" exhibit. This biennial show gives all of us yet another opportunity to see and appreciate the extraordinary creativity of our friends and neighbors.

-Sheila Eckstein, Marilyn Myerson, and Robert Taylor, Co-coordinators

Art Lovers Alert: When the splendid Kendal Creates show come down in August, the Art Committee will be faced with the problem of storing the three small wooden pedestals now displaying beautiful examples of our residents' work near the Crossroads Room. The Art Committee needs a home for these pedestals, lovingly made by the Woodshop Committee for occasional use in Kendal Gallery displays. It would be much appreciated if someone with a bit of extra storage space (say, an enclosed garage or seldom-used patio closet) would offer to store these pedestals until the next need arises. They are 12 in. square and about a yard high, guaranteed to be quiet and observant of all your household requirements. Do give it a thought and respond with your questions to Sheila or Bernard Eckstein.

A New R>A>F> Pilot Takes the Controls

After four years piloting Kendal's resale enterprise, Mary Simons is retiring. During the four years of her leadership, R>A>F> contributed $160,000 to the Kendal at Oberlin Resident Assistance Fund (rounded down to the nearest thousand). Although Mary intends to continue serving on the R>A>F> staff, Ruth Ann Clark will become the new committee chair.

On June 21 at the KORA Council meeting and the R>A>F> volunteer dinner, Mary was thanked for her exemplary service.

A reminder: Contributions for resale are always welcome. Items can be left in the hallway behind the Heiser Reception Desk or call Ruth Ann Clark.

Car sales (with 20% of the price going to the R>A>F>) can be arranged through Sam Goldberg.

R>A>F ShopTalk

As this issue of The Kendalight appears in your open mailbox, Ruth Ann Clark is the new chair of the R>A>F Shop and sales. She introduces herself as follows: "I was born and raised in southern California. Study, work and family have led me to live in California, New York, New Jersey, Illinois, and now Ohio. My work has been as a parish pastor for 17 years and then as a pastoral psychotherapist for 25 years. Early years of retirement included some university teaching and now I am here.

"One of the things I have long cared about is leadership training and development. Volunteers are the heart of any non-profit organization with a community base, and R>A>F's place in Kendal at Oberlin certainly reflects this. I am impressed with the huge volumes of work and energy given by the R>A>F volunteers to the tasks requested of them. It is my hope as chair of R>A>F to support and strengthen this team, to find ways to increase the proceeds of R>A>F, and to welcome new volunteers to this team with warm hospitality. As I take on this new responsibility, I am grateful to all the volunteers who will be continuing on with R>A>F, and to Mary Simons for her leadership these past four years."

Speaking for all the R>A>F volunteers, I wish Ruth Ann all success and eagerly look forward to working with her. Receipts for the period May 23 through June 26 were $5,823.82, including $1,040 in car commissions. Keep It Flying!

Resident Directory Coming to Your Computer!

We are creating a version of the Kendal resident directory that you can download to your computer and that can be searched by first or last name and so much more. There will be pictures, cell phone numbers, unit numbers, nearest parking lots, and email addresses in addition to name searches... so when you know that you just met a "Mary" but don't know the last name, you can search for all "Marys" and identify who you're looking for by her picture. This will only be available to Kendal residents as a downloadable email attachment, so no outside individuals can get your information. If you want modified or updated information beyond that included in the printed Kendal directory and your file picture, or if you have other questions, contact Donna Baznik. You can also request that your information not be included in the electronic directory.

Transportation Talk

Since the Fourth of July falls on Wednesday, the town run and Midway Mall run will be on Tuesday, July 3 at the regular scheduled times.

The Transportation Committee has been preparing a brochure entitled "Frequently Asked Questions" to supplement our recent brochure "Planning Your Transportation." We hope to have it cover questions that Kendalight readers might still have about Kendal and Oberlin transportation.

You are invited to put your questions in the Transportation Committee open box or in Box #100.

Welcome Kendal's New Residents

Thomas "Tom" Martin

Tom is a professor emeritus of information studies at Syracuse University, where he taught for almost 30 years. An information-age pioneer, Tom was one of the first in the United States to have email. He wrote an early computer concordance (of Wallace Stevens poetry, at Dartmouth as a math major) and was the designer of the first library-information retrieval system, during his PhD program at Stanford. He also earned a law degree at University of California, Berkeley, and shaped new fields of information policy and human interaction with computers, first at the University of Southern California, then Syracuse.

Tom grew up in Portland, OR. After law school, he joined the Peace Corps, and met Anne. They served together in Panama, and later traveled the world as scholars and visitors. Fluent in both Spanish and Portuguese, Tom was invited several times to live and teach in Brazil.

Tom was an avid genealogist who spent years researching his ancestry (he traced his lineage far back through the kings of England, the Mayflower, and early American settlers). He also loved to read science fiction, amassing a collection that spanned five decades. He dreamed of writing his own science fiction stories in retirement. Tom loved both classical and international music and was an expert on Brazilian music.

Tom's other passion was swimming; for years he swam laps daily for several hours. He was still in his 60s, physically fit, when he had a stroke.

Today Tom is in the Stephens Care Center. He likes to play computer games and dominos. He can identify birds at his feeder, greets people with a wave, and smiles if you ask him about his grandson. He is happy to live at Kendal, where Anne can visit him every day. He loves visitors, both people and dogs, and hopes you'll stop by to see him.

Louise Shoemaker

The story began in Ohio: hometown, Shelby; college, Oberlin. It developed over the 50-years-plus while living out of state, but now I'm back.

During those years, vignettes about marriage, family, friendships, work, community, and adventure wrote themselves. Were I to relate them they would be mostly true. The story remains a work in progress.

"Advice for Living From the Oldest (and Wisest) Americans" Sat., July 14 - 1:30pm - AUD

In the Cornell Legacy Project, Dr. Karl Pillemer, Professor of Human Development at Cornell University and Professor of Gerontology at the Weill Cornell Medical College, surveyed over 1200 elders, asking them for their most important lessons for living -- on topics like marriage, career, parenting, aging, regrets, happiness, and overcoming loss.

Dr. Pillemer, who is visiting Oberlin for a high school reunion, will share highlights from the project, focusing on practical advice for living a happier, healthier, more fulfilling life. His book, "30 Lessons for Living: Tried and True Advice from the Wisest Americans," was published last year.

Resident Rights at Kendal at Oberlin

At last month's KORA Council meeting, Mary Simons reported on the review of rights of our Stephens Care Center residents. Social Services Coordinator Lorrie Chmura had reviewed the rights of Kendal at Oberlin independent residents at an Afternoon Exchange several months earlier. These two reviews reflect the pride we at Kendal at Oberlin take in our ability to keep our little problems and minor irritations from growing into big problems and major annoyances through frequent communication forums and our Open Door Policy. The Kendal at Oberlin community values communication between residents and staff. The two monthly resident meetings (Coffee Hour and Afternoon Exchange), KORA's monthly Council Meeting, and the drop-in sessions with the Suggestions and Concerns Committee provide natural ways to address an issue before it becomes a serious complaint. KORA's Suggestions and Concerns Committee has often reported prompt feedback from departments when a concern that needs attention is shared. A summary of written reports by this committee during 2011 confirms this practice.

Most resident concerns are addressed by communicating in person directly to the department involved or to a committee whose purpose is to review such matters. However, if you are not satisfied with these mechanisms, you have the right to file a formal written Grievance that goes beyond our more informal means to solve problems. Be assured that your action will not result in retaliation or any barriers raised to services at Kendal.

If You File a Formal Grievance

If the Kendal at Oberlin Administration receives a formal Grievance from a resident living in a cottage or an apartment, the steps listed below are taken.

(A similar procedure is established for residents living in the Stephens Care Center.)

1. The Grievance will first be evaluated by the Administration to determine which department is best suited to address the Grievance.
2. Within two business days the person submitting the Grievance will be informed by the Administration what action steps will be taken to address the Grievance. Often, time may be needed to gather additional information. A meeting will be arranged if it would best serve the situation.
3. The person submitting a Grievance may wish to have an advocate join him/her for any review of the matter. The person may also request assistance from Kendal to provide an advocate.
4. The Administration, department or committee that has been assigned the Grievance will discuss with the individual the projected time frame for a response to the Grievance. Every effort will be made to resolve the Grievance promptly and a status report will be provided no later than one week after receiving the Grievance, assuming it is not of an emergency nature. In some cases, the next step may be to agree to preliminary actions toward consensus of a resolution.
5. When a resolution is agreed upon, it will be put in writing by the appropriate

Thanks from 2012 Chalk Walk

Barry Richard, who coordinated the 2012 Chalk Walk, thanks the Kendal volunteers for their "superb job." Master artists joined artists of all ages to create masterpieces in chalk.

Table Tennis Report

On June 15, we publicly unveiled Kendal's new Joola table tennis table. (When you hear Joola, think Rolls Royce!) Warm thanks for the table go to several Kendal table tennis devotees, with a boost from KORA. To mark the event, father and son Kenneth and Keiran Pinili (of Willoughby) treated us to a bang-up stroke demonstration and exhibition match. Some 50 residents were on hand to acclaim the duo's skills with repeated applause and oohs and ahs. It's a little late for the likes of us to reach the high level of play we witnessed, but we went away inspired, and that will show as we go on practicing in the coming weeks. When 11-year-old Keiran was asked how he manages daily intensive practice and keeps up his straight-A school grades, he replied (Kendalites will be pleased to hear it): "I do my homework first." For a quick tour of table tennis at Kendal, try this link:

will be an interactive process. The design team will provide an abbreviated, but intense, open workshop to explore opportunities for potential programs. It takes advantage of the collective wisdom and experience of all participants in a collaborative exchange of ideas and information sharing. There is no cap on the number of participants for this charette but we do ask you to be available for the committed times. For the process to be most effective, you must be available for the times listed below:
September 6: 9:15am-12:00pm and 3:30-5:30pm.
September 7: 10:30am-12:00pm.
As we get closer to the time of these events, we will share more information with participants who sign up. A four-minute DVD of a "Design Charette" is posted on KORA's website to give you a feel for how RLPS conducts this work. -Barbara Thomas

Just sign up in advance, come to the Heiser Lounge at 5:30pm and draw a number which will correspond to your table in the Fox and Fell or William Penn, where you will meet your tablemates. You get your meals as you usually do, either by ordering from the menu or going to the buffet.

Notes from Ann Pilisy

Please ask your dining staff for plain versions of available foods. A limited amount of plain food is prepared daily, and is ready to be served. Additional food is available, but is held uncooked, to be prepared as needed. This improves the quality of the food and reduces waste.

If you need your special order food ready at a specific time, let us know; generally, special orders are prepared when you arrive in the dining room to ensure best quality.

Call the Kendal kitchen at 775-9802 or Ann Pilisy's office at 775-9801.

Please write these phone numbers in your 2012 Kendal at Oberlin Directory.

Environmental Concerns: Trash/Recycling Rooms Update

An Environmental Concerns subcommittee (Joanne Busiel, Jerry Berner, Bob Coan) reviewed and updated the Recycling Guidelines, inspected all Trash/Recycling rooms and met with Facility Services Staff. The following were accomplished:

1. Guidelines in the Resident Handbook were updated.
2. New bright orange signs were placed in all Trash Rooms giving simple, clear Recycling Guidelines
3. The Trash Room inspection report was given to Facility Services staff members Jennifer Rimbart and Ryan Stalzkowski.
4. Facility Services will correct the deficiencies observed in some of the Trash Rooms. When this task has been completed, Jerry Berner will be informed and we will re-inspect the rooms.
5. Jennifer will collect rechargeable batteries, packed in a ziplock bag, for recycling. Put them in her mailbox.
6. Facility Services should be called with any questions about whether particular items are recyclable and for help with their disposal.
7. There are recycling bins in the Employee Lounge, Stephens Care Center, Central Activities Room, Early Learning Center and throughout Administration offices. There will be a recycling reminder letter in Ripples, the staff newsletter. There will also be education efforts directed toward the Stephens Care Center.
8. Houskeeping sweeps and wet mops each Trash Room monthly. Residents should try to keep the rooms orderly.

Solo Diners and SPINACH dining groups are going on summer hiatus. Both invite Kendal residents -- newcomers and old timers -- to join the groups for dinner again in September.
